Missed Anniversary

You'd done it now. When your girlfriend was eating an ice cream cone, her go-to bad mood fixer food, you'd joked that she was putting on a bit of weight, hoping to improve her mood. But you missed the big problem... The reason she was in a bad mood was because you missed your anniversary dinner reservations. You were playing games with your friends and didn't see her calls. When you woke up next to her the next day, you couldn't move or speak. She had used the TransformIt app on when you you sleeping!

Before today, you would've thought that being transformed into her bikini would be sexy pulled tight against the most intimate parts of your girlfriend. But you were mistaken. You were so tight that it felt like you were going to split apart. And it was so hot, the temperature outside must have been near a hundred degrees, and her body heat was inescapable.
